STEWARDING JOY

Our staff just finished our twice-monthly meeting. We began by speaking gratitude. Not all of us grew up celebrating Thanksgiving as a holiday, but faith calls all of us into the practice of thanksgiving. As we went around the circle, people named family members, experiences, church happenings, and more. There was a goodness, a joy that filled the spaces between us as we shared.

My college professor Anna Madsen, whose life has been filled with significant hardship, says that sometimes Christians feel guilty about joy. In her book Joyful Defiance, she writes that “we fear that joy wanders too quickly into self-indulgence, is a forced mask of plastic happiness, or at the very least selfishly disregards those who suffer while we smile.” But Madsen claims that “joy isn’t naïve, nor is it unaware or uninterested in sorrow, grief, or anger...[The two are deeply connected. We] steward the pain by changing the world for the better. [And we] steward the joy by creating a world where those who mourn have reason to breathe, reason to come back to life.”

As we emerge from a very tender time into another tender time in the life of the world, some of us might find that our joy and gratitude are a little rusty. The life of faith gently invites us to be ambidextrous—to stay alive to the sweetness of the world while remaining present to the heartache. The good news is that we are never expected to do this alone; instead, we find this movement in community and in communion with a loving God.

“Three Gratitudes”

by Carrie Newcomer

Every night before I go to sleep
I say out loud
Three things that I’m grateful for,
All the significant, insignificant
Extraordinary, ordinary stuff of my life.
It’s a small practice and humble,
And yet, I find I sleep better
Holding what lightens and softens my life
Ever so briefly at the end of the day.
Sunlight, and blueberries,
Good dogs and wool socks,
A fine rain,
A good friend,
Fresh basil and wild phlox,
My father’s good health,
My daughter’s new job,
The song that always makes me cry,

NOVEMBER 20 Sounds of Worship: The Changing Nature of Worship Music in the Caribbean Church with Andrew Martin:

“The steelpan is a tuned idiophone made from 55-gallon oil barrels. On the Caribbean islands of Antigua the fluid transfer of steelpan music from churches to schools to community bands links religious and civic life in a manner unlike anything else in the Caribbean. This forum explores the innovative use of steelpans in religious life in Antigua as well as Jamaica and the greater Caribbean archipelago.”

NOVEMBER 27 Discussion of Draft ELCA Climate Change Statement

Always at the same part,
No matter how many times I hear it.
Decent coffee at the airport,
And your quiet breathing,
The stories you told me,
The frost patterns on the windows,
English horns and banjos,
Wood Thrush and June bugs,
The smooth glassy calm of the morning pond,
An old coat,
A new poem,
My library card,
And that my car keeps running
Despite all the miles.
And after three things,
More often than not,
I get on a roll and I just keep on going,
I keep naming and listing,
Until I lie grinning,
Blankets pulled up to my chin,
Awash with wonder
At the sweetness of it all.

Schedule for Advent 2022

Wednesdays, November 30, December 7, 14, and 21
Advent Suppers and Evening Prayer Services

God has chosen to make a home among us. In our joys and sorrows, in our longing for healing and justice, in our gathering for worship, God promises to embrace us in love.

This year, there are two opportunities to engage in worship on Wednesday evenings:

The first is designed for parents and their young children to engage together in an interactive Advent reflection that invites busy hands and imaginative minds. It will be held from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Children's Choir members may wish to visit before rehearsal, then plan to eat supper following.

As has been our tradition in years past, we will also gather at 7:00 p.m. for a Service of Evening Prayer in the Sanctuary where we will again use our beautiful, unique Advent wreath. People of all ages are invited to worship (including young children, if this time and format works better for them).

Book Discussion on Refugia Faith During the Advent Supper Hour

Bring your supper (provided in the Community Room) to the Library and join the conversation on Debra Rienstra's book Refugia Faith: Seeking Hidden Shelters, Ordinary Wonders, and the Healing of the Earth.

Refugia (reh-FU-jee-ah) is a biological term describing places of shelter where life endures in times of crisis, such as volcanic eruption, fire, or stressed climate. Ideally, these refugia endure, expand, and connect so that new life emerges.

In our churches, in our communities, and in our ecosystems. Rienstra says, Christians are being called to nurture Refugia—inclusive spaces where transition, healing, and new growth can occur."

Sign up by Sunday, November 27. Discussions will be led by Matt Floding, Bryan Hollaway, and David Kohlstedt.

*Additional copies of the book are now available in the Community Room.

THANK YOU FROM MARY ELLEN OLSON'S NIECE

"Thank you for your kind words...I so appreciate your wonderful help and the help of everyone at Holy Trinity. My aunt's service was beautiful and perfect in every way, and I know she would've loved it. (As we loved my dad's service there 11 years ago.) After experiencing several other memorials in other churches recently, HTLC's staff and volunteers go above and beyond in every way. The community is incredibly fortunate to have such an amazing, caring, competent organization within it, and I was so grateful for not having to worry about every tiny detail of putting the service together —you all have it pieced together perfectly."

LIFE TOGETHER: THIS SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 12 PM CONSERVATION AND BIODIVERSITY

Join Shaun Morrell in the church library on Sunday, November 20, at 12:00 p.m., to discuss a chapter from A Life on Our Planet by Sir David Attenborough. Lunch will be provided. Group participants will have the opportunity to talk about how Christian faith intersects with wildlife conservation and biodiversity. Copies of the chapters are available in the Community Room.

PARISH INFORMATION

THE COLOR ORANGE

Following the news of the 215+ children of the Kamloops Residential School whose remains were found in an mass grave in Canada and the children of the Rosebud Sioux whose bodies were returned to their homeland, The American Indian Alaska Native Lutheran Association invites congregations to place orange cloth in their sanctuaries as a way to remember.

The color orange is symbolic. The inspiration came from a survivor of that era, Phyllis Webstad, who stated that when she was a 6-year-old girl arriving at a residential boarding school, she was stripped of her clothes, including a new orange t-shirt her grandmother had gifted her.

As a church we acknowledge and confess our complicity in the atrocities committed against the Indigenous peoples of North America and throughout the world where western Christianity colonized Indigenous peoples.

CHRISTMAS POINSETTIAS

If you would like to sponsor a poinsettia for the altar area at Christmas, please sign up in the community room or contact the church office (612-729-8358). Cost is on a sliding scale from $0-$30. Donate according to your ability.

The Christmas Eve bulletins will list the names of sponsors and the loved ones they are remembering or honoring.

There were more than 350 government-funded, often church-run, Indian Boarding schools across the US in the 19th and 20th centuries. Indian children were forcibly abducted by government agents, sent to schools hundreds of miles away, and beaten, starved, or otherwise abused when they spoke their native languages.
