TREATY WITH THE SIOUX, 1805

“We Acknowledge That We Are on the Traditional Land of the Dakota People”

Thanks to Cris Stainbrook and Martin Case of the Indian Land Tenure Foundation for producing an immense body of work on the treaties (treatysigners.org). What we’re looking at below is the entirety of the “Pike Treaty” that stole from the Dakota the majority of the land that is now the Twin Cities—from St. Anthony Falls to Bdote, the confluence of the Mississippi and Minnesota Rivers, with nine miles of land on each side of the Mississippi. It also included the mouth of the St. Croix River. Pike valued the land at $200,000 but paid $2,200. $200 and 60 gallons of whiskey was paid immediately and $2,000 later. The two Dakota who signed with an “x” knew no English and were dependent on a translator to understand what they were signing. Seven Dakota chiefs were present but only two signed. They were told that the treaty was the means to a better trading relationship with the whites. Lieutenant Zebulon Pike was 26 years old at the time. The St. Peters is the Minnesota River. This treaty cleared the way for the construction of Fort Snelling and, eventually, our homes .

TREATY WITH THE SIOUX, 1805.

*Conference Between the United States of America and the Sioux Nation of Indians.

Whereas, a conference held between the United States of America and the Sioux Nation of Indians, Lieut. Z. M. Pike, of the Army of the United States, and the chiefs and warriors of the said tribe, have agreed to the following articles, which when ratified and approved of by the proper authority, shall be binding on both parties:

ARTICLE 1. That the Sioux Nation grants unto the United States for the purpose of the establishment of military posts, nine miles square at the mouth of the river St. Croix, also from below the confluence of the Mississippi and St. Peters, up the Mississippi, to include the falls of St. Anthony, extending nine miles on each side of the river. That the Sioux Nation grants to the United States, the full sovereignty and power over said districts forever, without any let or hindrance whatsoever.

ARTICLE 2. That in consideration of the above grants the United States (shall, prior to taking possession thereof, pay to the Sioux two thousand dollars, or deliver the value thereof in such goods and merchandise as they shall choose).

ARTICLE 3. The United States promise on their part to permit the Sioux to pass, repass, hunt or make other uses of the said districts, as they have formerly done, without any other exception, but those specified in article first.

In testimony hereof, we, the undersigned, have hereunto set our hands and seals, at the mouth of the river St. Peters, on the 23rd day of September, one thousand eight hundred and five.

The names of the sponsors and the loved ones they are remembering will be listed in the Easter bulletin. This year, we ask that you donate between $3-15 per lily, depending on your ability.
